DISCUSS

01

Do you play games? Which ones?

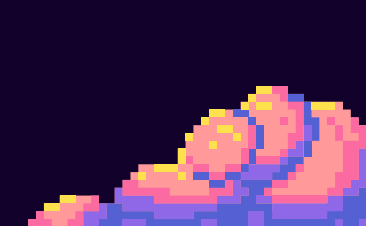

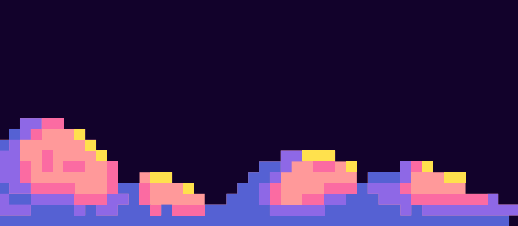

02

Which games are popular amongst your friends?

03

Are there any similarities between card games, board games and children's games?

READ THE DESCRIPTION OF THE TWO GAMES. WHICH GAMES ARE BEING DISCUSSED?

Both games are enjoyed by people around the world, but they offer vastly different experiences and appeal to different types of players.

The first game is strategic and competitive and requires skills, bluffing, and a bit of luck. It's often played in a more serious setting, such as casinos or home games with friends who enjoy a challenge. On the other hand, the second one is a party game that thrives on humour and wit. Unlike the first game, which can be intense and focused, this game is all about letting loose and having fun. The goal of this game is to come up with the most entertaining response to a series of fill-in-the-blank statements or questions, meanwhile, the goal of the first one is to outsmart the opponents and take home the pot.

While both games involve cards and social interaction, their gameplay and objectives couldn't be more different. The first game is about strategy, deception, and winning, while the other one is about humour, creativity, and enjoying the absurdity of the game.

SPEAKING PART 2

In this part of the test, I'm going to give each of you three pictures. I'd like you to talk about two of them on your own for about a minute, and also to answer a question briefly about your partner's pictures.

(Candidate A), it's your turn first. Here are your pictures. They show people playing different types of games.

I'd like you to compare two of the pictures, and say why people might play these games and how often they play them.

Why might the people play these games?

How often do you think they play them?

SPEAKING PART 2

Which of the games would you like to play? Why?
